Baker Hughes provides technology and services that enable oil and gas companies to deliver safe, affordable energy to the world.

Working interdependently with its customers, Baker Hughes creates value by developing new technologies that improve how wells are constructed, by integrating technologies and services to accelerate the production of oil and gas, and by discovering new ways to increase ultimate recovery.

Baker Hughes also delivers technologies and chemistries that ensure safe, reliable transmission and processing of oil and gas.

For more than a century, Baker Hughes has combined innovative technology with superior service to create solutions that move the energy industry forward. With approximately 49,000 employees, the company operates in more than 80 countries. ■
