Manhattan Resources is an elite executive search firm based in Houston with deep roots in the Energy, Oil & Gas, Petrochemical, Manufacturing & Distribution, Healthcare, and Legal Industries. Manhattan Resources is committed to building high performance teams for clients around the world. The firm makes good on this commitment by providing best-in-class search processes with complete transparency and an unrivaled tenacity and focus.

Manhattan Resources was founded over 16 years ago on the belief that the search industry's value proposition could be vastly improved. This belief continues today, and we know that our clients are better served if their search consultant possesses integrity, discretion, considerable experience, functional knowledge, and outstanding follow-up and follow-through skills.

Manhattan boasts more than 100 years of executive search experience on staff, including functional experts in Accounting, Finance, Engineering, Sales & Marketing, Operations, Information Technology, Human Resources, and Legal. Many of our consultants have held executive level positions such as President, CFO, EVP, VP, Controller, and Director within the industries we serve. Our veteran team has established a wealth of contacts and successful experience over many years; we maximize our talents as a team to deliver unparalleled results for our clients.

It is this experience that allows Manhattan Resources to offer our clients executive search services, board search and consultation, senior executive succession planning, family business advisory, and leadership expertise assessment.

In addition to our commitment to a better value proposition and top-notch talent, Manhattan Resources has developed and utilizes a meticulous search process that provides for a high level of transparency and accountability. Clients can expect deliverables on time and on point. In addition to a short list of candidates, each search provides clients with a complete market landscape and considerable market intelligence.

The ability to build high performance teams by representing our clients professionally in the marketplace, holding ourselves to a high degree of accountability, communicating in a clear and compelling manner, and applying a systematic approach makes Manhattan Resources a true outlier in the search industry. ■

"From the beginning we have partnered with Manhattan Resources in order to build our executive leadership team. Their specific industry knowledge has been pivotal in identifying and attracting key leaders".

Layne Loessin, President & CEO
Entrust Energy
Houston, TX

"As a private equity backed firm that just made our first major acquisition, we used Manhattan Resources for a couple of our key corporate hires after the acquisition. Manhattan Resources balanced the understanding of our needs with their own experience and perspectives as to what our needs should be. In the end, we hired two senior professionals that hit the ground running and have exceeded our expectations".
